Reg Prentice is the founder of Tonic DM, a document management system for the design side of the building industry, including architects, interior designers, landscape architects, engineers and design consultants. He believe solutions should delight, and he works to bring together his passions for design, technology and business in the service of the building industry.

A graduate of the Wellington School of Architecture with Bachelor degrees in Building Science and Architecture, Prentice spent close to twelve years at Gehry Partners, eventually becoming the Director of Information Management. Prentice later joined Gensler and would become a Firmwide Design Process Analyst, co-leading research on two grants related to design process.
